They will be displaying U.S. & foreign coins, paper money, tokens and medals.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Our first ANACS counterfeit seminar is now history. ANA's two authenticators, John Hunter and Ed Fleischmann did a fantastic job and no one went away unhappy. Archie did a fantastic job in putting the seminar together and both authenticators left New Jersey with a very good impression on how the Association is being run.

John Harris, has reported to me that plans are going well for this years convention. Our educational forum will again be moderated by David Ganz and John has lined up the following speakers; Grover Criswell, President of ANA, John J. Pitman, Past President and currently serving as a Board of Governor to ANA and New Jersey's #1 Numismatist, Val Pasvolsky.

Ed Smith, our Picnic Chairman, has reported that his committee is busy putting together last minute plans and promises that this years picnic will be the best yet!! GSNA member clubs are reminded that if you want to have a get together, why not have it at YOUR Association's picnic, there is plenty of room for your club to hold a meeting.

Ed has also given me the final report on our nominations and who the nominees are, they are as follows: President, Archie Black, 1st Vice-President, John Harris, Treasurer, Charles Berg, Secretary, Ed Smith and Corresponding Secretary, James Brandt. Since our only nominee for 2nd Vice-President declined the position, the new Executive Board will meet on July 1st to try and fill this position.

At its last board meeting (April 28th), the Executive Board approved the following By-Laws change regarding nominations. The change in the By-Laws will be as follows: "That a candidate will be able to collect his or her nominations and he or she will submit them to the Secretary." Each candidate will still have to secure the required two (2) nominations from member clubs in good standing and two (2) nominations from individual members in good standing.

At this time it gives me great pleasure to welcome our latest club member, the Mount Holly Coin Club.

Since this will be my last report as your President, it has been a very busy and a very rewarding four (4) years. I would like to thank my Executive Board.

The following remarks are excerpted from Sol Riveles remarks in the I.N.S.N.J. Newsletter:

I don't know if as your president I have a right to voice my personal opinions, but being very meek and introverted, I of course will.

We happen to be a very, very lucky club by the fact that we have some really terrific, hardworking and knowledgeable members, but unfortunately it is always the same people who do all the work. I am not giving plaudits as we all know who they are. I would like to see some more equity in the distribution of the work load, in volunteering to help, in the things that we can teach each other and we can teach each other something or other, in the care that is shown to the club and others. If the club is only going to be a place to "Socialize for there is nothing better to do that night," then the club will become stagnant and disintegrate and we will have to look for something else to do.

I feel that each and every member should act as if the club was his or her personal domain, pitch in and make it the type of place you want and would be proud of, a place to bring friends, new faces that we can teach and of course learn from. Enough sermonizing for the moment.

Getting back to personal opinion, I feel that each and every person at a meeting should participate in the raffle, the value of the items being raffled depends on the amount of tickets sold (and money collected) and besides having a chance to win something, you are helping to support the club and/or "socializing coffee break." Since we are basically an Israel Numismatic Club, new issues should be purchased thru the club since the club does make some money on these purchases. Israel Numismatics have been an excellent investment. I started collecting Israel Numismatics as a way of supporting the State of Israel (my hobby was U.S. coins). I bought whatever I could afford at that moment of whatever issue was being offered, both to build a set and use the extras as gifts or tokens and believe me, it was quite beneficial financially to me. The increase in value was something I never even thought about, it wasn't my object, but it was there.

I am coming to the conclusion very fast that writing a bulletin is a very hard job.

Besides being members of I.N.S. N.J. those of us who are not members of A.I.N.A. should join, dues are only $8.00 per year and their magazine "THE SHEKEL" is alone worth the dues.

With the rash of burglaries around us I think it advisable for everyone to keep an inventory of their belongings and if possible to have pictures to substantiate their losses or in the case of items with numbers to make a copy of those numbers. It may be a bad subject to bring up, but unfortunately, it is all around us today. Blame it on inflation.

KING OF COUNTERFEITERS CALLED HAMLET IN NEW JERSEY HOME

by ED REITER LM #02

Flagtown is little more than a speck on New Jersey's map - a small section of Hillsborough Township, five miles southwest of Somerville in Somerset County.

It has a claim to fame, though, of which even local residents may not be aware: At one time it was home to the very finest counterfeiter in the business.

His name was Emanuel Ninger, and for more than a dozen years in the 1880s and '90s he made his livelihood — a comfortable one at that — producing and passing copies of United States currency.

Ninger was no mere printer, cranking out counterfeits on a press. He was a pen-and-ink artist, and each of the notes he produced was, quite literally, a work of art.

The process he used involved the most painstaking attention to detail.

To begin with, he would buy bond paper made by Crane & Co. of Dalton, Mass. - the same company that produced the paper used in making real money. Then he would cut the paper to the size of the note he was copying and immerse the blank paper in a jar-filled with weak coffee.

After soaking for an hour, the paper would look aged; it also would be soft and pliable - just right for the next step in the process. While it still was wet, Ninger would place it over the face of a genuine note — usually a $20, $50 or $100 bill, align the two on a flat pane of glass and copy each detail of the genuine bill onto the nearly transparent bond paper with a hard lead pencil.

THE REAL ART came next. Ninger went over the pencil tracings with pen and ink, then added colors with a camel's hair brush — even including red and blue streaks to simulate the silk threads which help distinguish genuine U.S. currency.

He labored over the Treasury seal — the weakest point on most counterfeit notes — to help deter detection. And rather than try to copy the geometric lathes, the intricate swirls on genuine bills, he used his brush simply to suggest this part of the design - and did it so expertly that even after careful study it was hard to tell his brushwork from the real thing.

Ninger turned out perhaps $200 to $300 worth of phony bills each month, working at a fairly steady pace. His

This $50 legal tender note was model for many Emanuel Ninger counterfeits. Obverse vignettes depict Benjamin Franklin and Liberty dressed as Columbia. Ninger operated from a house in Flagtown in the 1880's and 90's.

"canvas" was larger than that of latter-day counterfeiters: U.S. paper money in those days measured 7 $\frac{3}{8}$ by 3 $\frac{1}{8}$ inches - considerably bigger than the current 6 $\frac{1}{8}$ by 2 $\frac{5}{8}$ inches. And his working conditions were far from ideal: He toiled in a small upstairs room in his two-story farmhouse, straining to see with the light from a single window. In those days, though, the profit he earned was - so to speak - good money, especially for an immigrant family.

Like many of the leading counterfeiters of his day, Ninger was born in Germany. He emigrated to the United States in 1882, at the age of 35, with his wife, Adele.

The couple touched down briefly in Hoboken, where Ninger worked spasmodically — and with no particular distinction — as a sign painter. They then made several moves, ending up in the Westfield area, where they lived on a series of farms but apparently never farmed them.

When they bought their farm in Flagtown, in 1892, the town was a market center for farmers in the Somerset area. It's likely, though, that Ninger was drawn there not by the market, but rather by the Jersey Central train station - for once a month, he would travel into New York to pass the bills he had made.

THE LAST FRIDAY of each month was Ninger's traveling day. He would gather up his month's supply of bills, don a greatcoat with a brown velvet collar and board the New York train - armed, as well, with a small black leather handbag in which to place his purchases.

On Saturday, he would make the rounds of stores in New York - liquor stores were his favorites — and trade his phony bills for small amounts of merchandise and large amounts of genuine U.S. money. He'd also stop at an art supplies shop to replenish his stock of paper, ink and implements. Then, on Saturday night, he'd head back to Flagtown and start the process all over.

Ninger was distinctive in appearance, not the type of man a storekeeper soon might forget. For one thing, he had a lush blond beard. For

NUMISMATIC BOOKSHELF by SANFORD J. DURST NLG

Buying books by Auction or Mail Bid Sale is one way of picking up scarce books, and even common ones you need, at reasonable prices.

Our recent Mail Bid Scale #1 containing 1285 lots of Periodicals, Books, Catalogs, dated from 1558 to the present, sold out at over $30,000. Interestingly, 94% of those who bid got something. Some items went way over estimate, and many went for bargain prices too.

Watch for future sales of the book dealers in the U.S. We have a Mail Bid Sale #2 coming up the end of June which includes many early auction catalogs of such important houses as Low, Elder, Chapman, Leavitt, Bangs & Co., which are desirable, good reference works, and have proven to be good investments as well. Also included are early red-books, periodicals, references, and catalogs both antique and recently published.

A copy of the catalog of over 1500 lots can be had for only $2.00 including the prices realized after the auction, by writing to Sanford J. Durst, 133 East 58th Street, New York, New York 10022. A limited number of hard covered catalogs will be sold at $15.00 as well. A few copies of the Mail Bid Sale #1 catalog are also still available a $2.00 each.

Also watch for auctions by my good friends George Kolbe and Frank Katen. Their ads appear regularly in the numismatic press.

Bidding in the Mail Bid Sale is simple. Read the catalog, decide the price you wish to pay for the book, and put your bid on the bid sheets provided. If you do not have credit with the sponsor of the sale, a 20-25% deposit is generally required. It will be returned in whole or in part if you are partially successful (or unsuccessful) and if you come out okay, you will be billed for the balance due.

Expect to pay for shipping and insurance but this is usually a low sum.

Developing a numismatic library in this fashion can be fun, and profitable.

another, his countenance was dotted with moles - two under his right eye, another between his eyes and two more on his right ear. All this plus his fancy coat - and the size of the notes he passed - should have made him easy to remember. Almost always, though, his bills went undetected until they reached the subtreasury or the Treasury itself - by which time it was virtually impossible to trace them back to their source.

For 14 years, before and after moving to Flagtown, he plied his perilous trade - passing perhaps $40,000 worth of bogus notes. But then at length, on March 28, 1896, he finally went awry - and did so in the most mundane ways.

NINGER HAD just one bill - a fifty - left as he neared the Cortlandt Street ferry slip in Lower Manhattan, there to board the boat for New Jersey, where the train awaited. Finding himself in front of W.L. Duesing's saloon at 87 Cortlandt, he went inside, put down his bag and ordered a glass of Rhine wine and a cigar - paying with genuine money.

Then, after small talk with Duesing, he asked, somewhat apologetically, in a heavy German accent, "You have change maybe for a fifty-dollar bill? Got to pay off some hands on Monday."

The tavern owner checked his cash drawer, offered $40 in bills and $10 in silver, then picked up the $50 bill from the counter where Ninger had placed it. Ninger, who was late for his train, stuffed the bills and silver into his pocketbook without counting them and walked out of the bar.

Duesing was puzzled that a farmer would fail to count so much change, and took another look at the $50 bill. The front looked perfect, but as he turned it over his finger touched a portion that had gotten wet on the bar - and some of the ink came off. He shouted to an employee to run and get the Dutchman with the beard.

The employee found a patrolman, and together they tracked their quarry to the ferry house. And there, after fruitless protest and an equally fruitless effort to escape, Emanuel Ninger's artful career of crime came to an end.

FAR FROM CAUSING contempt, news of Ninger's counterfeiting attainments actually inspired admiration. One well respected authority on penmanship proclaimed him "a first-class impressionist."

N.Y. newspapers took to using familiar nicknames in stories about the suspect - "John the Penman," for one; "Jim the Penman," for another. Letter-writers urged that he not be punished, but rather be put to work at some honest trade where his talent would not be misspent. And most ironic of all, examples of his bogus bills came to be collector's items, bringing substantial premiums.

The public's appeals for clemency were only partly successful; Ninger was sentenced to six years in prison and ordered to pay a fine of $1 - fairly lenient penalties by the standards of the day. He ended up serving four years and two months in the Erie County, N.Y., penitentiary.

Good as they were, Ninger's imitation notes differed from Uncle Sam's in a number of significant details. One of the most intriguing involved an intentional omission.

Genuine bills carried the inscription, ENGRAVED & PRINTED AT THE BUREAU ENGRAVING & PRINTING. These words, however, were nowhere to be found on Ninger's notes.

But then, as he himself pointed out with justifiable pride, it was he - and not the bureau - that made them.

MARCH MEETING

Our meeting in March was an extremely interesting meeting with a few unfamiliar faces. The most prominent unfamiliar face belonged to our President, George Evers. George ran an excellent, interesting meeting that covered a myriad of topics.

Our program this evening was an expanded Exhibition and Commentary.

Bob Schonwalter showed us several of what Meshorer calls Jewish Roman Coins. These are coins that were issued by Jewish cities under Roman rule.

Bobby Bruck displayed and told us about two scripture tokens.

Carl Rosenblum had a display that traced the development of Palestine into Israel; starting with some Herzl envelopes, anti-semitic Austrian notgeld, paper shekels issued by Zionist Congress, Konversionkasse, concentration camp script, an Irgun medal, banknotes of Israel, a Camp David medal and a 30th anniversary medal.

Paul Drucker had three anti-semitic medals; one depicting a feather Jew, one a corn Jew and the third a modern version of the corn Jew. All of these are a satire on the role of the Jew.

David Gelb showed us a 1957 issue of the Society of Medalists with two biblical themes. One side was from Psalms 8 and the other from Genesis 1.

Howard Cohen presented an assortment of Camp David and Begin-Sadat meeting medals, as well as one peace medal with the words shalom, saalam, and peace forming a dove. In the words of Howie: "Some of these medals are the ugliest I've ever seen."

The winner of a 59mm bronze Israel Export medal for the most interesting display was Bobby Bruck.

OLYMPIC ISSUES

Do you want to paper three rooms and a bath? Well, now you can do it with Russian Olympic Stamps, souvenir sheets, standard sheets and first day covers.

Not content with just nailing coin collectors, the non-capitalistic Russians are also after stamp collectors. In order to buy one of everything offered in a recent ad just forward your check in the amount of $2,004.95 and they'll send you back a shoe box full of colored paper commemorating one of the largest ripoffs in history.

PASSAIC COUNTY COIN CLUB — 022

Joseph E. DeGhetto was installed for a 23rd consecutive term as secretary-treasurer of the Passaic County, N.J., Numismatic Club, at the club's 24th annual installation banquet.

Rudy Chlaupke was installed as president for 1979, and Stanley Wielczyk, vice president.

The club meets monthly, except during July and August, on the first Wednesday, at Johnny's Banquet Hall, 110 Acherman Ave., in Clifton, N.J.

KENT COIN CLUB — 024

FEBRUARY MEETING

We will have to look back at the month of February as one that we won't forget for some time to come. The weather really didn't help encourage anyone to do much of anything but shovel snow! Dover managed to get 19 inches of that beautiful white stuff and it really had an affect on what people did with their time!

The regularly scheduled speaker had to cancel out due to the weather, so Steve Taylor filled in with an illustrated talk on the various types of U.S. Paper Money. He managed to show some new slides that were recently added to his collection, and it's obvious that the work of photography was completed by Bill Lewis.

In reviewing U.S. Paper Money, Steve has shown that there certainly is a lot of variety in the field of "syngraphics" as well as some beautiful art work. It has become apparent that even though the number of paper money collectors may be small compared to other interests, they are rapidly increasing as evidenced by exhibits at shows.

MARCH MEETING

The March meeting was attended by thirty four members and guests and they were certainly treated to a fine program. Jules Reiver (#93) came down from Wilmington once again to share his knowledge on the early United States coinage. This time, Jules topic was on the old Bust Dollars and their varieties. His talk was really complemented by some fine slides and it was quite obvious that he is a good photographer as well. We are most fortunate to have such a knowledgeable individual in our club who is willing to share his numismatic interests with us. Thank you very much Jules!

I.N.S. OF SOUTH JERSEY — 026

The April meeting of the Israel Numismatic Society of South Jersey dealt with the Jewish version of "Roots."

Ancient Judean coins are living evidence of our origins in studying the history of these coins we are actually tracing our own roots.

Dr. Edwin Mendelssohn, senior surgeon at Albert Einstein Medical Center was our guest speaker at the meeting. Dr. Mendelssohn is a noted authority on ancient Hebrew coinage. His own collection has been the chief attraction at many coin exhibits throughout the country. Most notably at the International Coin Museum in Philadelphia. In Oct. 1977, Dr. Mendelssohn's exhibit was given the Best of Show Award at the American Israel Numismatic Association Convention in New York.

As Passover is the time for the retelling of one chapter in our long history, it is most appropriate that this meeting traced our heritage through ancient coins.

IT HAPPENED LAST MONTH

We were very pleased to have as one of our guests at last month's meeting, American Numismatic Assoc. Governor Chuck O'Donnell. He invited all of our members to the 1979 Garden State Numismatic Convention to be held at the Cherry Hill Hyatt House, June 28-30th, . . . I.N.S.S. Annual Installation of officers will be held at that time.

Our 1979 auction was an entertainment and financial success. Led by auctioneer Dave Pollack and coordinated by Sue Baelen and Lou Ann Tarnow. No one dared scratch their ear, for fear of advancing the bidding. Over seventy lots changed hands and the clubs' ten percent commission totaled over $45.00. Thanks one and all . . .

Mr. Chuck O'Donnell presented a copy of his book, "The Standard Handbook of Modern United States Paper Money" for inclusion in our club library. Our President, Eric Baelen, was in such awe he forgot to get it autographed, an oversight he will correct at the G.S.N.A. Convention. Chuck also displayed paper money of every denomination from $1.00 to $20.00, (yes, including 13, 17, etc. etc.). We look forward to many other visits and talks from this most knowledgeable and entertaining collector.

BERGEN COUNTY COIN CLUB — 037

Bergen County Coin Club's 25th Anniversary Coin Show held on March 10, 1979 was termed a success by Julio Perez, show chairman. Alvin Gunther, registration chairman, reported that the special 25th Anniversary wooden nickel souvenir was sold out at the door.

Walter Stefanacci, exhibits chairman, commented on the array of exhibits assembled for this year's show. Best of Show honors went to Julio Perez for his display of Peace Dollars 1921-1935.

A display of United States One Dollar Notes from 1862-1978 by Steve Taylor won first place. Second place went to Rocco Stefanacci for his exhibit of Large Cents while third place was awarded to Archie Black for his exhibit of Bust Half Dollar Overdates 1807-1836.

With over 48 dealers in attendance activity on the bourse floor was very active throughout the entire one day show. According to the dealers present the show confirms the continuation of the upsurge that numismatics has been experiencing in the last year. The show which is held in the Spring of each year is considered an indicator of numismatic activity for the shows to follow in the New Jersey area.

ESSEX COUNTY COIN CLUB — 039

Members of the Essex County Coin Club, Maplewood, N.J., named Eddie England to the presidency for 1979. Richard Giedroyc was named vice president; Heather Sorden, corresponding secretary; Anthony Gervasio Jr., recording secretary, and Jo-Ann England, treasurer.

CAMDEN COUNTY COIN CLUB — 043

The unique logo of the Camden County Coin Club is featured for the first time on a wooden nickel, reports Alvin F. Pharo, recording secretary for the New Jersey organization. The logo consists of a stylized eagle surrounded by a circle of coin reeding.

The woods are available for 25 cents each from the club at Pharo's address, 336 Essex Ave., Cherry Hill, N.J. 08002.

PAK — 050

To the Officers and Membership of GSNA!

Kindly allow me on behalf of "PAK" to take the opportunity and thank the GSNA membership and its officers for the Educational Award #50 you have rendered with respect to our YN (Young Numismatist) Scholarship program.

It is our sincere hope that all member clubs of GSNA promote it at their monthly club meetings, to incite more interest among young collectors, to participate. We realize that many of these young collectors are bashful or too busy with other activities in their young lives to take a crack at writing their composition for a chance at such an award.

That's where club officials and elder statesmen may make their presence felt, by continued stressing of this competition at their monthly meetings. We're delighted to supply any amount of entry blanks requested from any club, by just writing to PAK at the address quoted at the end of article. They will be mailed to them promptly.

To add, PAK is delighted to present to any member club of GSNA which does have a library its Grading system and Photo-Step Guide of Jefferson Nickels which also includes other valued information about this coinage series.

We're also pleased to present OGSNA with a copy of this issue for their very own library, and add to it the March 1979 issue Newsletter which contains our public endorsement of Florence Schook's desire to attain the Number One seat on the ANA's Board of Governors. We truly feel that her voice on that board is a vital asset to the Hobby and the Young Numismatist especially. Please do your share to see this is a reality, and the same applies to GSNA's very own President William Horton who's also seeking a seat on the board. New revitalization and streamlining of ANA and the Hobby is sorely needed, and what better way is there to start, than by electing the ones who'll see this come true.

Yes, the more prominent names in the Hobby, among dealers, etc. have been the bulk in their contributions to the ANA, but without the collectors support, neither of these would be successful; therefore bear in mind, that the collector, Young Numismatist, and future Hobbyist shall be adhered to, if we are to move ahead in great fashion on a more efficient streamlined basis.

With the following quotes allow me to close this letter to you, they represent truly what we're out to achieve with respect to the future of the Hobby. The first is by Thomas Jefferson, and the other two are contributions to PAK by two of its dedicated members.

"I am persuaded that the good sense of the people will always be found to be the best army. They may be led astray for a moment, but soon correct themselves."

"I hope for all PAK members that every day has a full sunrise and in that sunrise there are many, many Full-Steps to us all closer to our goals in life."

"In Numismatics good Observations determine whether endeavors today reveal unblemished steps tomorrow."

CLUB CALENDAR

In an attempt to coordinate show dates for the Coin Clubs of New Jersey, GSNA will publish, in each issue of the ANA, the dates of any coin club show. It is hoped that by providing this information, clubs will be better able to plan their show and avoid conflicts with other club shows that have already chosen a date. We urge all clubs, whether GSNA members or not, to cooperate in this long overdue attempt to eliminate bucking each other by competing for the same interested persons to attend 3 or 4 shows scheduled on the same day. Only your help and cooperation will resolve this annual problem which sometimes causes bad feelings among some of the clubs. Come on clubs, let's get it together in 1979 — 1980
